OBSERVATIONS This rubble wall labeled 1135 is approximately 644 cm in length. This measurement includes an approximately 95cm cut by the burial (1150) which intersects the wall approximately 380cm east of its western most point, adjacent to 1058. Current excavated depth is 44cm and the wall appears to be 83cm wide. Average size of rubble is 18x8cm.

DESCRIPTION
 Position within sector: Rubble wall is located in the southern half of the site, originating from the west and continuing east.
 Shape: Wall is linear and fairly straight. Its width tends to vary due to current excavation limits and possible collapsed debris. *Observation measurement was taken from widest point.

Description: The wall originates from the west and continues east for approximately 644cm - at which point current excavation limits obscure eastern end of wall. At the widest point the wall's width is 83cm. Approximately 380cm from the wall's western origin is a burial cut labeled 1150. This burial cut exposes approximately 44cm of the wall's height.

Sketch (if applicable, indicate North)

INTERPRETATION

1135 is a tufo wall abutting SU:1058. It seems to predate the burial 1150 which was cut into the wall. The wall's relation to the adjacent burial 1125 is undetermined but, 1135 may be a perpendicular extension of another wall feature; located south of SU:1058 and oriented North-South.
